SCENES ABOUT FRUITLAND

HISTORY

Fruitland Institute, a high school of high grade, seven miles northeast of Hendersonville, N. C., was established in 1899 by the Baptists of the Carolina Association, under the leadership of Rev. A. I. Justice. Other supporters in the early days worked faithfully and gave liberally of their means for the institution. The Home Mission Board of the Southern Baptist Convention, through its representative, Dr. A. E. Brown, of Asheville, N. C., has co-operated in the work by making liberal appropriations, both for equipments and for maintenance. The guidance of the Divine Hand has been seen and recognized through all the years.

AIM

The school exists for the training of Christian leaders, for giving the best literary culture under Christian influence through the high school period and meeting college entrance requirements. Fruitland Institute stands for a well-rounded Christian character. Only those who have a real purpose in life may hope to be satisfied and happy here.

The Master said "By their fruits shall ye know them." This institution desires to be judged by no other standard than by the character of the work done, the nature of the product turned out, by the life of the young men and women who have passed through and caught its spirit and ideals. Fruitland depends upon her boys and girls to give the world a conception of what is done here.

LOCATION

The location of Fruitland Institute seven miles northeast of Hendersonville in the beautiful Clear Creek Valley is most fortunate. The mountains which surround the quiet village are lovely and inspiring. The productive farms provide the necessities of life at reasonable cost. Good roads, daily mail and telephone lines furnish connection with the outside world and afford many of the advantages, without the moral dangers of town life. Fruitland and the surrounding neighborhood are as free from evil influences as any in the country.

HEALTHFULNESS

Fruitland is 2,231 feet above sea level. This elevation gives pure atmosphere and pure water, the first essentials to good health.

The sanitary condition of the premises is guarded with the utmost care and precaution. The health of the student is carefully and constantly watched to see that it is not affected by exposure or improper food. Physicians from Hendersonville furnish skillful and faithful service when they are needed.

SOCIAL LIFE

In few schools is there such close touch between pupils and teachers. Living in the same dormitories, eating with them, sharing their pleasures as well as their serious duties, the teachers become their devoted friends and advisors. That the students may possess the accomplishment of entertaining with ease and grace, receptions are occasionally given in the two Homes. About once a term the school goes on a mountain picnic.

RELIGIOUS EXERCISES

Each day is begun with prayer and song. The semi-monthly church services, a well organized Sunday School, B. Y. P. U., Woman's Missionary Society, Young Woman's Auxiliary, and Sunbeam Band, together with the prayer meetings of the young men and young ladies in the respective Homes, furnish opportunity for personal work as well as cultivation of the Christian spirit. All students are expected to attend religious exercises.

LITERARY SOCIETIES

There are three well organized Literary Societies—the Philosophian and Chrestomathian for the young men, and the Philoponocian for the young ladies. These Societies are regarded by the Faculty as important agencies in the work of education. They hold weekly meetings for debate, orations, declamations, recitations, essays and other exercises. Their importance in imparting a knowledge of parliamentary law, in cultivating a taste for reading, and in the formation of correct habits of public speaking cannot be overestimated.

Each Society offers a medal for the greatest improvement during the year. Other medals are awarded to winners in contests at Commencement.

LIBRARY

We have as yet a small library of only a few hundred books to which students have free access. Valuable additions are made each year by generous friends, and we would be glad further to increase the efficiency of the library by standard works. Gifts of this kind will be gladly received. Our library is a depository for public documents.

PHYSICAL CULTURE

Physical Culture is encouraged to the extent that regular classes are conducted each afternoon on the athletic fields for systematic training of both boys and girls. In addition the boys enjoy baseball, football, tennis, track and other sports; while the girls play basketball and tennis, and are chaperoned for long cross-country walks. The enthusiasm in the exercises manifests that the students have personal regard for physical development.

LOAN FUNDS

The Harold Howard Fund for ministerial students was started in 1909. It has increased and has helped several worthy young men to remain in school when otherwise it would have been impossible. We appeal to friends of ministerial education to contribute to this fund.

The fund for girls was begun by Miss Josephine Lane, who considered it a pleasant privilege to work for Fruitland. This stands as a memorial to her and will always be known as the Joe Lane Fund for Girls.

MINISTERIAL STUDENTS

Recognizing the importance of an educated ministry, the school offers free tuition to young men who have been licensed to preach. Sons and daughters of ministers pay one-half tuition.

BUILDINGS

There are five buildings on the school grounds. The Main Building which contains class rooms, chapel, society halls and library, is not sufficient to meet the present needs and is soon to be replaced by a modern stone structure.

The other buildings are the homes of the teachers and the boys and girls. The Girls' Home provides for fifty young ladies, while the Boys' Home and two cottages conveniently situated afford room for sixty young men.

A country's power centers in the home, and to develop the highest character students need home life. A realization of these facts has led Fruitland Institute to endeavor to make her home life an example of the ideal home. Our Homes are not simply clubs, but real homes where neatness, thoughtfulness, and consideration of others is sought. Each student assumes not only a portion of the daily duties, but also responsibility for the spirit of the home.

WHAT TO BRING

The rooms are partly furnished, but each pupil should bring a pillow, two quilts, one white counterpane, one pair of sheets and pillow cases, cover for bureau, cover for washstand, cover for study table, towels and napkins. Students also furnish necessary toilet articles.

EXPENSES IN HOMES

Expenses in the Girls' Home, including board, fuel, lights and room rent, were last year $6.00 per month. Expenses in Boys' Home, including board, fuel and room rent, last year were $7.00. Students pay what it costs and no more.

No reduction is made for absence for less than a week. Each student pays $5.00 in advance at the beginning of the term, which is counted on the last month's board, and then pays bills at the end of each month.

MUSIC DEPARTMENT

A woman's education is not complete without some knowledge of music, and men, particularly those who engage to any extent in Christian work, find it helpful.

The aim of the Music Department is to equip with a practical musical education such as will qualify for service.

To adhere strictly to a prescribed course is impracticable. The needs of the individuals must be considered.

The course of instruction includes: Notation and Sight Reading, Chorus Singing, Interpretation of Hymns, Voice and Solo Work.

Piano studies include: Tappers' Graded Piano Course I-IV, Kunz's Two Hundred Short Two-Part Canons, with selections from the old Masters and modern composers.

Voice studies include: Breathing exercises, and voice placing, Concone, fifty lessons; and for class work, Towner's Class and Chorus.

Special encouragement is given those who have ability as singers and leaders.

Aside from the regular private music lessons, we have a class in notation and theory of music, and four Clubs—the Fruitland Glee Club, Polymnia Club, the Aerial Quartet, and the Lyrique Quartet.

ART

The purpose of the Art Department is not only to give the students a knowledge of drawing and painting, but to develop their powers of observation of the numberless beauties of nature and to inspire devotion in the hearts of those whom we teach, to the Creator of all beauty.

Course 1. Elementary drawing, mechanical drawing, outline drawing from objects, study of light and shadows.

Course 2. Water color painting, flowers and landscapes.

Course 3. Painting in oil and out-door sketching.

REPORTS

Grades are based upon the daily recitations, frequent written tests and examinations held at the end of term. Reports are sent to parent or guardian soon after examinations.

REGULATIONS

Written regulations are few. Whatever is deemed best for the highest interest and greatest growth of the pupil may be considered as an unwritten regulation.

1. Boys and girls over fourteen years of age, of good health and good character may be received as boarding pupils.

2. Those desiring to enter school should fill out application blank and send to the principal.

3. Parents desiring the absence from school of their sons or daughters should notify either the principal or the lady principal one week before the desired absence.

4. No boarding student will be excused from church attendance, home duties, or daily exercise.
